

TORC LAAGER 7 KLEINE EIKE CAMP NEWS 14th – 17th JUNE 2024

Friday finally arrived with families setting out from their homes heading for Klein Eike campsite in Greyton. Due to a serious motor accident, travel time was extended by some hours making arrival time late afternoon.

The weather was warm and sunny the whole weekend. The dew however was very heavy drenching the quite long grass underfoot. The fire drum was moved under the lapa and lit providing a cosy area to braai amid much laughter and catching up. The only sound was the occasional mooing of a cow or a dog barking some distance away. This park allows dogs with instructions to pick up after your animals.

Saturday dawned with heavy mist which finally cleared mid-morning exposing a bright and sunny day. Some members opting to go out for breakfast and attend the local market bringing back fresh produce at good prices.

We had intended playing board games in the afternoon, but fun and laughter kept us all enjoying each other's company.

We all settled around the fire braaiing and kuiering until late.

TORC LAAGER 7 KLEINE EIKE CAMP NEWS 14th – 17th JUNE 2024

Sunday dawned with early morning mist that burned away to another sunny day. Being Father's Day, the ladies were on duty to spoil their spouses. No one was in a hurry to start. The Hendricks family arrived with more catching up on news and late breakfasts were made. Keith was enthusiastic to play games, so we had fun playing Rummi-cup.

A couple of games later preparations began for Potjies, and fires were started. We moved another fire drum under the lapa and amid much ribbing and rivalry a variety of pots were bubbling away.

Sunday evening was the first sighting of stars without mist, so Monday was sunny drying out the canvas awnings. Indaba was at 11am with a reading of Psalm 75. After business was concluded, Keith took much delight in fining members for anything or everything he considered mischief. Final packing up had most of us heading home with Wayne & Genevieve staying an extra night.

Another fun weekend enjoyed by L7.
